FOURTH ANNUAL GIVING PROGRAM

The Fourth Annual Giving Drive has reached the half-way mark. The results to date have been very encouraging and indicate clearly that the alumni of La Salle College are behind this continuing effort to support the college's growth.

A total of $7,935.00 has been contributed by 472 alumni, which represents an average gift of $16.81. With a goal of 1,000 contributors, we are very close to the 50% mark.

It is particularly encouraging to note that many repeat gifts have been received. There is no better indication of a sound program of Annual Giving than a high percentage of repeat gifts. When an alumnus supports the program year after year you know that he does so because he believes in the purposes it serves.

When we analyze the first-half statistics, the results of good class effort stand out markedly. For example, our first progress report of November 13th showed the Class of '54 with only 14 contributors and a total of $125.00. One month later, the class had 62 contributors and a total of $606.00. This was the result of good class organization and hard work by the class leaders. Our congratulations to the Class of '54 for this fine group effort.

The Century Club, consisting of those alumni who contribute $100 or more to Annual Giving now numbers over 10 members, and one member of the Class of 1940 has contributed $1,000.00.

The second half of the campaign will open towards the end of January and will continue to June 30th. With such a wonderful beginning, we are in a good position to make this campaign a truly successful one. We need your support. If you cannot afford to send the contribution today, send your pledge with a later payment date. Whichever method you prefer, make your contribution now while the thought is fresh in your mind.

Remember, the goal of Annual Giving is to have everyone contribute something. Regardless of the size of your gift, large or small, we need you as a contributor. When we can point to the record and say that the overwhelming majority of our alumni support Annual Giving, we will have the kind of program for which we are striving.

May we congratulate the many alumni who have already contributed to the Drive. We are confident that many others will join your ranks in the second half of the campaign.

FIVE YEARS AFTER GRADUATION

The Class of 1951

Changes in the pattern of results from studies of the Class "five years out" seem to be accounted for by the decreasing number of G. I.'s. The changes for the Class of 1951 are relatively minor. A larger percentage of professional men is indicated and there are proportionately more graduate students than in the two previous classes. The number of single men rises from 25% to 30%. Family size is slightly higher; the number of mixed marriages is slightly lower. The surprisingly large percentage of men who praise the Philosophy program is sustained. On the other hand, in this instance, less satisfaction is expressed with respect to the Religion Program.

An innovation in methodology was introduced, the use of a sample. The complete questionnaire was sent only to one third of the members of the class. Every third name was selected from the graduation list after eliminating evening division graduates. Non-Catholics were not counted for the purposes of this survey. There were eighteen men in each of the two eliminated groups. As a check on the validity of results projected from a one-third sample, the first page of the questionnaire was sent to the others in the class. It was found that, with few exceptions, data are sufficiently comparable to warrant continued use of this technique. Returns were received from 85% of the sample and 66% of the others — a total of 72% of the class. Incomplete data on a small percentage of the non-respondents indicate that they run the gamut of the results presented in the complete report. The hypothesis that they would not materially change the principal conclusions nor the percentages on which they are based, needs to be tested. An obvious procedure would be to interview as many of them as possible.

Present Situation

In this section emphasis is on the more or less personal characteristics of the graduates of June 1951. Subsequent sections concern the current evaluations of the four years spent at La Salle College.

For many (two-thirds) the four years were interrupted by Military Service. It cannot be stated, therefore, that all the men were in continuous attendance between September 1947 and June 1951 and consequently, their experiences being only relatively comparable, yielded somewhat surprising percentages in reply to several questions.

Brother D. Augustine, F.S.C., Ph.D.
Chairman, Department of Sociology which conducted survey

Major Subject

The class was divided almost equally between majors in the liberal arts disciplines and majors in business. Returns were received in almost identically corresponding percentages. Accounting majors constituted 24.3% of the entire class, and half of all those who were awarded the Bachelor of Science degree. Education majors constituted 22.7% of the entire class, and nearly one-half of all those who were awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree. The next highest single category is pre-professional, 8.6% in Science and 7.2% in other curricula. Add to these totals the remaining 25% distributed between General Business, Marketing and Industry and it would seem that the men of 1951 were job conscious, "vocationally" oriented. This is realistic, especially when it is remembered that from 1945 on, eighteen hours of Philosophy were required of all students and that all curricula included Religion, English, and the Social Sciences. Can it not be maintained that most of these men were exposed to a "balanced" educational program?

Marital Status

The fact that one-fourth of the men (25.1%) entered military service upon graduation may account for the 5% increase in the number of single men in this class as compared with the two previous classes. A large percentage of the classes of 1949 and 1950 were G. I.'s before graduation. At any rate, 30.2% of the respondents were single at the time the questionnaire reached them last fall. With respect to those who are married, (69.8%), 78 families have produced 371 children. The average time married is 5 years and 5 months. These data favor the married men of the class of 1951 over their predecessors of 1950 and 1949 with respect to fertility.

Occupations

Using the questionnaires, all of which had been saved, the Counseling Center made a comparative study of the occupational classification of the three classes, with the following results, by percentages:

Occupation	1949	1950	1951
Professional	36	42	45
Semi-professional	6	5	3
Exec. Mgr.	21	17	17
Clerical	7	8	6
Sales	23	23	23
Skilled	1	*	*
Semi-skilled	*	*	*
Service	2	1	2
Unskilled	*	*	*
Unclassified	4	4	4
* less than 1%

Correlating these figures with those on major subject shows that, in the main, graduates of La Salle College are in occupations related to their college curriculum. In reply to a direct question, a large majority of the respondents (85%) stated that the courses at La Salle helped, indirectly at least, toward fitting them for their present occupation. Is it not pardonable pride to advert to the fact that education which enables men to qualify for professional life and executive positions was available to and selected by so large a percentage of La Salle College graduates?

Postgraduate Education

La Salle graduates have made a commendable record with respect to post-graduate education as may be inferred from the large number of men who enter the professions. In addition to the 39% who attended graduate school, another 9% undertook postgraduate work of various types although not formally enrolled in a graduate school. Some men, of course, enjoyed both types of postgraduate education. Only 37% of the members of the class of 1951 admitted doing no post-graduate work of any kind. A check revealed that approximately one-third of this group were in the managerial-executive occupational classification.

The Distaff Side

La Salle graduates seem to accede to the contention that women need not be college graduates. Of the total number of wives (178), 57% were High School graduates. The Bachelor's degree was obtained by another 15% and an additional 17% had varying amounts of college education. Two wives received a Master's degree and three others did graduate work without going on for a degree. Only 26 of the 178 wives were employed outside the home, and 25 of these had been married less than two years. Exactly 8% of the men of 1951 are currently involved in inter-faith marriages. Another 6.7% married converts, most of whom became Catholics before marriage. These data are highly complimentary to this class since the national statistics in this respect show that over one-fourth of all Catholic marriages involve a non-Catholic.

The Religion Program

A large majority of the respondents (85%) gave an affirmative reply to the question "Do you feel that you are a better Catholic for having attended La Salle College?" Of the remainder, 3% admitted being only nominal Catholics, and 1% to being irregular in practice.

Over one-fifth of the men (22%) replied that the number of religious exercises was insufficient, and 23% said that the religion courses were unsatisfactory. It is the considered opinion of faculty and students that since this class graduated, and for the past three or four years, the religion program has greatly improved in both respects.

A total of 9% of the members of this class maintain that they are only nominal Catholics and an additional 10% admit to being somewhat irregular. Many of this number were in these categories before they enrolled at La Salle College. However, it would seem that the religion program, the religion department, or some administrator should discover such men and endeavor to restore their faith with a view to helping them to become practicing, convinced Catholics.

Effectiveness of Instruction

As might be expected the academic program was reported as generally satisfactory. The courses were not too theoretical (70%), ample opportunity for discussion was provided (73%), a high level of achievement was encouraged (63%), attendance at cultural functions was encouraged (65%), but only 57% said that an account was required with respect to "outside readings." This latter percentage seems somewhat low and inspection shows that disciplines which required considerable laboratory or mathematical work correspondingly assigned less library work. A serious deficiency in the instructional program seems to be indicated by the large number of men (60%) who claimed they were not helped to maintain effective study habits. This is higher than for previous classes studied.

La Salle College as a Repeat Choice

A total of 81% of the men of '51 would again choose La Salle as their College if they had it to do over, but 25% would change the major they pursued. The change from business to liberal arts would be 7%, and conversely 5%. The remaining 13% represent changes from one liberal arts major to another. Six men would not only change major, but would go to a college other than La Salle — these six are included in the 19% who, in percentages from five to two, said that their choice of college now would be either an engineering school, an Ivy League College, a large university, or a different small college. Two men in the sample said they would not go to college at all. Those who felt the College was worth the four years devoted to it, constituted 86% of the sample.

Cultural Attainments

The sociological concept of culture includes not only such elements as religion, fine arts and family life, but also broader considerations concerning the social, economic, political and intellectual situation of a given people. College graduates are likely to assume leadership in one or more of these areas and an attempt is made in these surveys to have the respondents estimate the extent to which undergraduate experience helped in this direction. College helped most with respect to advancing understanding of social problems (78% affirmative) and least in the area of the fine arts (51% affirmative). In the latter instance 31% maintain they have not yet developed appreciation for art and music.

A direct question relative to the importance of intellectual interests while in college brought a 52% affirmative and a 30% negative response, with 17% uncertain and 1% failing to answer. Relating the responses to major subject, it was discovered that men who majored in Business, and those who spent considerable time in science laboratories represented most of the negative replies.

Evidently the working of problems or performing experiments were not considered high on the list of intellectual pursuits.

In evaluating their own leadership qualities, the respondents illustrate the research viewpoint that few persons deliberately falsify answers to questions. In this case only 25% of the men claimed that ability to direct the activities of others was advanced in college. Only 8% said that this leadership skill is undeveloped. No answer was given by 3%, while the remaining 64% claimed that although it was developed subsequent to college, it was a result of college experience and training. Sociologists classify these data under the heading of expected behavior. In college only class officers and club leaders would have the opportunity to develop this ability while it would be required later as part of the role of professional men and of the executive-managerial class. These two groups combined, it will be recalled, constitute 65% of the respondents, and presumably of the class.

On two other counts, the ability to undertake new tasks, and to speak effectively in public, 58% and 52% respectively claimed that while in college they advanced in these skills. Only one-fifth of the men (19%) admitted that ability to speak effectively in public is not one of their attainments.

Adjustments to Urban Living

Respondents were requested to check that one of three possible alternatives which most nearly described their situation: Was the adjustment advanced while in college; developed later, but as a result of college experience; or, relatively undeveloped to date; least developed or advanced while in college was a feeling of responsibility to Alma Mater? (53% affirmative) That is being changed.

In order, the affirmative percentages on the following points were respectively: appreciation of family life (60%), evaluation of human relations (72%), feeling of responsibility to society (74%), feeling of responsibility to the Church (79%) and respect for the values and interests of others (79%). There was only a 2% "undeveloped" reply for the last factor, in comparison with a 6% "undeveloped" reply with respect to a feeling of responsibility to the Church. With respect to a feeling of responsibility to Alma Mater 18% of the men claimed it had not yet affected them, a total of nearly one in five; and 3%.

CAMPUS EVENTS

BLUE AND GOLD BALL

After much delay, arrangements for the Blue and Gold Ball have been completed, and all members of the Alumni are invited to make their reservation through the Alumni Office. For the first time in many years the traditional highlight of the social season will not be held at the Bellevue-Stratford. The gala affair will take place Friday, February 7, at the new Sheraton Hotel, 17th and Pennsylvania Avenue. Richard Maltby and his orchestra will provide the music for the dance. Maltby, who is also the conductor-arranger for RCA Victor's Vik label, as well as the leader of the Maltby orchestra, is considered as one of the outstanding musicians of the day. One of the few "Big" name bands in the business, Maltby has been responsible for several hit recordings.

Many of the old alumni will recall that the Blue and Gold Ball was a good excuse for informal alumni gatherings, and it is hoped that this practice will be resumed. Tickets are priced at $6.00, and the dress is formal.

AIDS FOR SENIORS

Job hunting and the job interview were the main topics of three principal speakers at the first annual La Salle College Career Conference Dec. 5, one of two major steps recently inaugurated to aid La Salle seniors making the transition from campus life to the business world.

To aid graduates and prospective employers, the Placement Bureau of La Salle College, under the direction of L. Thomas Reifsteck, now sponsors a new course, "Personal Adjustment to Business," the first of its kind in the Philadelphia area.

Attracts 17 From Area Businesses

Brother E. Stanislaus, F.S.C., president of La Salle College, opened the Career Conference with a welcome to the visitors from seventeen area business concerns who were interested in the unique La Salle approach to the problem.

"The Interview," the subject of three ten-minute talks, a panel discussion and open forum, was explored by the three principal speakers, Mr. F. S. Hartley, Sears Roebuck and Co.; Mr. Thomas F. Kehoe, Chicopee Manufacturing Corp.; and Mr. Frank J. Gillen, Great Valley Laboratories of the Burroughs Research Center.

Brother David Cassian, F.S.C., dean of the La Salle College School of Business Administration, was chairman for the Conference.

Ethical Approach Stressed

A "Code of Ethics," accepted by many Placement Associations across the nation, was adopted and proposed to La Salle seniors as a guide in pre-graduation negotiations with prospective employers.

The "Personal Adjustment to Business" course, offered only during the Fall semester, Oct. 15 to Dec. 10, discusses proper interview conduct, follow-up after the interview, and personal evaluation.

Spanning the Gap

Taught by Mr. Reifsteck, faculty members, and visiting lecturers from industry, the main objective of the course is span the gap between the college campus and the business world. It enables the students to explore the philosophy of the modern business firm, and the graduate's responsibility to society and the free enterprise system.

Techniques of writing effective application letters, data sheets, resumes and portfolios are considered, and special emphasis is given preparation necessary before an employment interview.

COLLEGIAN AWARD

Chet Huntley, veteran NBC news commentator, received the tenth annual Collegian Award for "Public Service in Journalism" at the La Salle weekly's annual staff banquet on February 3 at McCallisters.

The dinner is also the traditional occasion at which the Collegian Keys are presented to deserving retiring editors, and at which the new editors for the spring and fall semesters are introduced. Michael Tanney, '59 will replace Norbert Moser, '58, as editor-in-chief.

Chet Huntley

Noted for "Outlook"

In receiving the 1958 plaque, Huntley joins past recipients Ed Sullivan, Morley Cassidy, Bob Considine, Red Smith, Sidney Sokolsky, Edward R. Murrow, David Lawrence, Jim Bishop, and last year's winner, the late Richard W. Slocum, past executive vice-president of the Evening and Sunday Bulletin.

Best known to millions of TV viewers as editor of "Outlook," a spot he has held since its inception in 1956, Huntley joined NBC in 1955. His big story for that network was his coverage of the 1956 national political conventions with fellow newsman, David Brinkley, for which both won wide critical acclaim. The pair now present "NBC News," a daily TV news summary each weekday night.

Three Network Veteran

Huntley did not decide on a news career until, while pursuing a pre-med course at Montana State College, he won a scholarship to the Cornish School of Arts, Seattle, as first prize in a National Oratory Tournament in 1932. After one year at Cornish, he transferred to Washington University, from which he received his bachelor's degree in 1934. He was finally launched on his news career when the Seattle Star hired him to read news over a local station.

Now a veteran of all three major networks, Huntley first joined a radio chain in 1939, when he began work for CBS on the West Coast. There he covered such top stories as the founding of the United Nations in 1945. In 1951, he switched to ABC, for whom he covered the historic Bandung Conference and made reporting tours through Asia, the Middle East, Europe and Latin America.

Huntley has received several major honors for his outstanding reporting, among them the George Foster Peabody Awards in 1942 and 1953, and the Alfred I. Du Pont Award in 1956.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Much financial aid for Graduate study includes a stipend for the living expenses of both the student and his dependents.

This important fact, and other key information may be found in the extensive and up-to-date library of Graduate Study, Graduate Fellowships, and Scholarship information maintained by the La Salle College Counseling Center. There are more than one hundred and forty Graduate School Catalogs, almost one hundred specific announcements for this semester alone, and a file of forty-our different scholarships or fellowships sponsored by private foundations. All information has been tabulated and sorted to enable the La Salle student and graduate to seek his field of concentration in the file and find just what opportunities for advanced study are available.

In addition, the Center devotes a section of the file to foreign study and scholarships abroad, and many booklets telling the student procedures to follow for application to Graduate Schools both at home and abroad. Several other books and pamphlets, which list Graduate Fellowships and Scholarships not in the basic file, are available upon request.

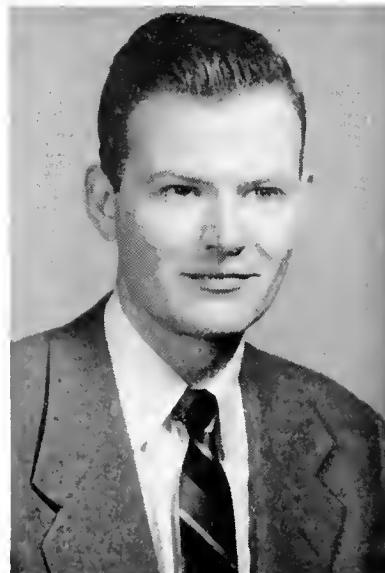

Also available are necessary booklets and application forms for the Graduate Record Exam, Law School and Medical College Admissions Tests, and Graduate Study in Business Admission Test. Information concerning these tests is posted on the Counseling Center bulletin board, as are fellowship and scholarship announcements of particular interest to La Salle students.

GERMAN CLUB

The remarkably active La Salle College German Club recently completed its first year on the Olney Avenue campus, amid announcements of its plans for 1958 activities.

Already one of the most active groups on campus, the club's aims are to aid students who have difficulty with the German language, and to introduce its members to German cultural activities. Robert McDonough, assistant professor in Russian and German, is club moderator.

Among the events planned for the coming year are two lectures. One, by

Robert McDonough

Dr. Joseph C. Reino, assistant professor in English, will discuss German literature, while a second lecture and film on Germany is planned. A visit to the Goethe House in New York City and a Spring dance and dinner are also on the 1958 agenda.

Perhaps the most successful affair sponsored by the club in 1957, "An Evening in Germany" highlighted an address by German Consul Horst Pelzman and German folk dancing.

IRISH DELEGATE OUTLINES UN AIMS

"To despair of the United Nations would be to abandon all hope for civilization as we know it," said the Honorable Conner Cruise O'Brien, Irish Delegate to the United Nations, in an address Jan. 7 at the Olney Avenue auditorium.

Topic for the talk, sponsored by the La Salle International Relations Club, was "The United Nations As Seen By A New Member—Ireland." Jack Gallagher, IRC president, introduced the diplomat to the audience of students, faculty members and guests.

O'Brien, noted as a writer as well as an emissary, outlined the broad aims of the UN and its effectiveness since its inception after World War II. He also stressed Ireland's unique position from which to view world affairs, since it is "both Western European and a former colony." He explicitly cited Secretary General Hammerskjold and Canada's Nobel Peace Prize winner, Lester Pearson, in mediating the Suez crises, and added that no "double standard" was applied to the Soviet Union when they crushed the Hungarian Revolution, for Resolutions were passed calling for withdrawal in both cases.

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR

Twenty two young men from sixteen different nations lend to an air of International Flavor around the La Salle College campus. Nine of these students are members of the freshman class, and these nine in turn represent seven nations. Part of any education is learning how the other fellow lives. These exchange students are gaining knowledge of the American people, and the native born LaSalle Student is learning first hand about peoples and nations that until now were only names.

The list is impressive, and it is even more impressive when the academic list is checked. Although, for most of these students a language barrier exists, the overall marks for this particular group are excellent.

Who are these students, and where are they from? Here is the list: Poland's representative is senior George R. Eliashevsky. Jose Martin from Venezuela, and Rene G. Meierhans from Switzerland are the other seniors on the list.

Two Nicaraguans, Ralph A. Salinas, and Carlos E. Telleria; George K. Dunye, Liberia; Rosario Ferreri, Italy; and Patricio Hidalgo, Ecuador, are sophomores.

Four men and four nations are in the Junior class. Camillo M. Centuori, Italy; George M. Jacob, Lebanon; George Lewycka, W. Ukraine; and George Liarakos, Greece.

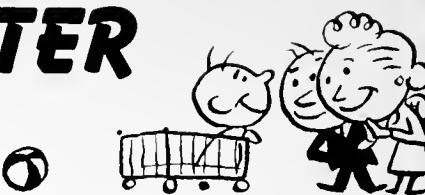

Of the nine freshmen previously mentioned, three are Italians, Peter DeFilippis, Louis A. DeSanctis, and Aldo B. Delpino. Joseph P. O'Reilly, Ireland; Paul Gianniotas, Greece; Juan V. Artiles, Cuba; Bernard R. Boxill, B.W.I.; and the Ukraine's Alexander B. Czernyk complete the list.

The above list totals only 21, the other student, Canuto Borromeo, Jr., from the Philippines is carried on the official roster as a special student.

Through these twenty two students La Salle gains International Flavor, and will gain International Fame.

additional failed to answer the question. Obviously this matter needs attention from the Alumni Society—or is this situation also found at other colleges?

USE OF LEISURE TIME

Leisure time pursuits often indicate a person's real interests and may point to good (or not-so-good) personality traits; to intellectual calibre, and other facets of character. The graduates of 1951 mention a wide variety of leisure time activities. Reading absorbs more time for more of the men than any other one activity. Fiction, non-fiction, occupation-connection materials, and the Catholic weekly are included. Family-centered activities are high on the list, and socializing, entertaining and visiting friends also take up considerable time. Sports and athletics are lower on the list than might be expected although active recreation such as golf, fishing, hunting, bowling, and coaching were specially mentioned by a total of fifteen men. Various types of hobbies were too diversified to mention here. Movies and television are infrequently listed, the latter receiving a total of 18 references. Dancing was not listed at all.

Separating what would be recreational interests from interests related to occupation is not easy. A fairly large number of men chose to answer the question concerning use of leisure time by responses such as: preparing for class (teachers or postgraduate students), grading papers, study, school work, Marine Corps Reserve, part-time job, work, occupation, etc. Five men listed club activities as a leisure pursuit. Men recently married, recently released from the military, and engaged in establishing a home are not yet in a position to participate effectively in civic or parish activities. One man spoke for many others in adding a comment to the effect that once he is settled down he expects to become active in community affairs.

CLUB NEWS

LEVITTOWN

An annual "Winter Dance" was inaugurated by the Levittown Club Dec. 6 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Woodbourne Road, Levittown. Cleat McBride and his orchestra, who also supplied the music at the Spring Dance, did a great job.

Victors in the recent mail balloting are Frank Yoder, '49, president; Leo Dooley, '52, vice president; and John Merrick, '48, elected secretary-treasurer. Other nominees were Andrew Bertucci, '52; Robert Sweeney, '50; John F. Moross, '49, and William Hearney III '50.

CAMDEN

A very successful organizational meeting was held in St. Joseph's Hall, 29th and Westfield Ave., Nov. 8. Many of the area's more than 300 La Salle graduates attended.

Twenty-five couples attended the post-game reception at Kenney's Restaurant, Camden, after watching the Explorer hoopsters snare victory from Villanova in three overtime periods, 111-105, at the Palestra on January 11.

NEW YORK

New York Club members met at Cherie's Restaurant, November 14, and made final arrangements for a get-together December 14 at the La Salle-Manhattan basketball contest. A good alumni turnout marked the 72-59 La Salle victory over the Jaspers, and seventy members and their guests attended the pre-game reception.

WASHINGTON

A large turnout is expected to represent La Salle at the annual luncheon of the All Pennsylvania College Alumni Association at the Shoreham Hotel on Feb. 1. Dr. Robert Johnson, president of Temple University, will receive the 1958 Citation for his outstanding contribution to Pennsylvania education. Many college presidents, alumni officers and faculty members will attend.

WILMINGTON

The first Wilmington Club Social was held November 16 at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Admission was free and, as an added incentive, Alumni members were permitted to sponsor another couple, also free of charge.

MEDICAL SOCIETY

The first business meeting of the new year was held Jan. 19 in the Library Lounge on the Olney Ave. Campus. Unresolved articles of the Constitution were presented at this meeting and future activities were discussed.

OPERATION SHOEHORN

A universal comment of each "old grad" upon returning to the campus concerns the remarkable growth and expansion of La Salle. Students of two decades ago view with satisfaction the four new dormitories, the campus store and cafeteria in Leonard Hall, the temporary class-room building of Benilde Hall, the impressive modern library. Many of them have seen the scale model outlining the ultimate result of the La Salle Development Program. Some of them have seen the architect's plans for the Student Union Building, construction of which is ready to begin. Enrollment figures are accessible to all; the breadth and depth of our faculty are known. Alumni reflect with pride that their college — La Salle — is ranked 18th in size among the 247 Catholic colleges in the United States. Each year 400 excellently trained graduates join an alumni of more than 5000 scattered throughout 38 states, two territories, and six foreign countries.

Statistics such as these do make one feel a surge of pride in the accomplishments of one's Alma Mater. They might also, however, provide a temptation to think of La Salle as quite self-sufficient, no longer burdened with the urgent need of the individual and united help of its alumni. The number of buildings, the number of students, the number of graduates are figures of external operation. The real worth of La Salle is found in its instruction, and in the necessary facilities available for that instruction. And it is in this area that the College can take pride in the efficiency with which it operates. Accompanying statistics will show the amazing use the College makes of the facilities available, pointing up at the same time the urgent need for increased instructional space.

La Salle has a regular faculty of more than one hundred men. (In these paragraphs we are directing our attention only to the Day Division; the Evening School has an extraordinary story of its own of space utilization and efficiency.) The College offers a wide variety of subjects for study; during this present semester there are 170 different subjects being taught. Degrees are offered in more than 25 major curricula. Many of these courses have enrollments that necessitate the opening of multiple sections. The fall semester roster lists over 500 sections, each section meeting on the average of three times a week. This means that there are better than 1500 class meetings conducted during the normal college week.

William Binkowski, '48

All of these meetings must be scheduled into the available class space. It is here that these figures excite surprise. For the College has available only 35 rooms for instructional purposes. Ten of these rooms are laboratories or special purpose rooms; and two of the remaining 25 are very small rooms and their use is severely limited. The College is now working on a 9 period day, five days a week. Just a bit of elementary mathematics will show the remarkable efficiency that is needed if the school is to operate successfully.

This remarkable efficiency is present, and it is largely centered in the person of William Binkowski '48, Assistant to the Dean. Mr. Binkowski's major responsibility is fitting these 1500 weekly meetings into the thirty-odd available rooms over a five-day week. Rostering headquarters is a small cubicle off the Deans' Offices, one entire wall of which holds a large board showing the exact location of each class section every period of every school day of the week. A glance at it shows the maximum efficiency with which the instructional space is used. Complexities of rostering are compounded by individual problems, both from faculty and student-body; every effort is made to accommodate reasonable requests for roster adjustments, even though these add greatly to the burden of an already difficult operation. But Bill Binkowski's unfailing good nature and unflagging energy are equal to the almost impossible task.

Gone are the days so many of the old-timers remember — days when the Chem majors had elbow room among the re-torts in Brother Charles' lab; when the Collegian 'office' trembled under Brother Andrew's hearty laugh; when Dr. Doernenberg could meet his German class in an isolated corner; when the Library had more singing birds than studying students; when Dr. Holroyd knew the third cousin of each of his pre-meds. The student population has doubled and trebled itself. But the classroom space has remained almost constant. Hard-working efficiency has been able to span that increasing gap up till now. But if present operations are being conducted with almost one hundred per cent utilization, how will La Salle cope with the increasing demands made upon it?

La Salle will never be in a position to act independent of its alumni and its friends. This is fortunate. This is as it should be.

Pre-season analysts sized up LaSalle's quintet as a veteran-loaded outfit which had exceptional sophomore material available for relief work. At the same time it was casually admitted that any one of four outstanding sophs could eventually move into starting positions.

At this writing, approaching the midway point in the season, Jim Pollard's starting five is composed of the four aforementioned sophomores and a single senior. The rest of the "veterans" are camped on the bench and have been second-stringing the second year boys.

Reliable Bill Katheder is the only senior remaining from the group who opened up the season with the Millersville forgettable. Soph Ralph Bantivoglio, a surprise starter on opening night, is still a starter along with classmates Bob Alden, Hugh Brolly and Joe Heyer.

The movement to youth was pretty much prompted by necessity. Despite the 8-2 record chalked up in the first ten games, LSC was forced to engage in all manner of overtime games to make this mark. The team was not living up to expectations and the senior five was not working well together. Pollard gave the nod to the youngster gradually. Hugh Brolly was inserted for the Penn game and, even though LaSalle lost in O.T. 67-66, Brolly was made a permanent starter.

The next game, an overtime victory over Niagara, saw Bob Alden replace Ed Givnish and seal the position with an exceptional performance.

With three sophs in the lineup the Explorers won the Richmond Tournament, although senior Tom Garberina was the big hero with a 15 point substitute performance against Richmond in the 59-55 overtime win.

Heyer Starts

Returning to Philly, LSC played probably its worst game of the season against Syracuse, but managed to walk off with a listless 59-56 victory, in overtime, of course. Coach Pollard, wishing to speed up the offense, experimented by going with Joe Heyer against Muhlenberg. Heyer did a sparkling job. With Joe and Ralph Bantivoglio accelerating the backcourt play, La Salle had little trouble with the Mule zone defense. Frequent Explorer substitutions wore down the visitors and only a great second half performance by Clint Jeffries prevented the home forces from romping the Allentowners. The final was 67-61.

The Muhlenberg game was an encouraging outing. The Explorers mounted their first fast break attack of the season and gave promise of more of the same in the future. Often the Blue and Gold passers were bringing the ball up court before the Muhlenberg defense had time to set up. This alert moving coupled with fast passing allowed the Explorers numerous good shots. Poor luck on the outside shots prevented the Pollardmen from registering better than a very commendable 39% shooting average.

The sophomore story got into print faster than expected, but Pollard hasn't discarded his senior stalwarts. Bill McGonigal and Charley Eltringham are two of the best replacements in the nation. Both Hooch and Pud often see more action than the starters and are at least as valuable to the team. Al Ferner, Ed Givnish and Tom Garberina are the other players upon whom Pollard relies regularly.

Ideally, Pollard would like to split up the game time evenly between his seniors and sophs. With an effective two platoon system a fast moving brand of play would leave most opposing teams dry mouthed in the second half. It was to the Explorers disadvantage that they were unable to muster anything that resembled a running game early in the season, and the desire to speed up La Salle's attack undoubtedly figured in Pollard's move to young blood.

"RANDOM NOTES"

By Tom Harper

Gerry Corkery, your vice president, and I have been making a real effort, subject to baby sitting arrangements, children's colds, etc., to meet as many of you as possible and explain to you what your alumni organization is planning for the future.

We had the pleasure of meeting the New York group on December 14, 1957, prior to the La Salle vs. Manhattan game, and had the opportunity to renew many friendships with former classmates who are now in the New York area. The New York group is very active and we certainly welcome their participation in the alumni organization. Incidentally, they are planning a meeting on March 5th when La Salle plays Seton Hall at Seton Hall.

On the 23rd of December, the class of 1954 had a cocktail party and meeting at the College for the purpose of installing officers. The cocktail party and meeting were well-attended and I wish to extend my congratulations to its new president, George L. Mason III, who has devoted so much time, ability and enthusiasm in promoting the fortunes of the class of 1954 in alumni activities.

On December 27th, the class of 1956 had its reunion at Kugler's under the chairmanship of Bob Rogers. Despite the fact that so many members of this class are on active duty in the armed services, the dance was well-attended and it was a delightful evening.

These activities, plus the Christmas holidays, made me increasingly aware that at my advanced age, I couldn't stand the pace.

More recently, the Camden group had dinner and attended the La Salle vs. Villanova game on Saturday, January 11, 1958. I understand that those members who survived the overtime contest went back to Kenny's in Camden for transfusions, etc.

On the 19th of January, our medical group, composed of doctors who graduated from the College, met at the College.

I thought that some comment on these activities might be helpful to the general alumni as an indication of the growth and virility of our organization in general.

Under the chairmanship of Joseph Schmitz, Jr., '20 assisted by John Ryan, our Annual Giving campaign is at the half-way mark. The class of 1954 leads all other classes in number of contributors and certainly deserves special commendation. As you know, the emphasis this year is on number of contributors rather than amount. This is motivated in no small measure by various foundation and corporate grants to private educational institutions, which grants are based on percentage of alumni contributors. If you have not already done so, I would encourage you to make your contribution as soon as possible.

Signum Fidei

An open invitation is extended to all alumni to enter candidates for the 1958 Signum Fidei Award. The Medal, which derives its name from the motto of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, "Signum of Faith," was established in 1941 to recognize "noteworthy achievements in the advancement of Christian principles," in harmony with the aims of La Salle College and the objectives of the Christian Brothers.

FRIENDS OF LA SALLE

La Salle College earnestly solicits the interest and support of friends to bring to a complete realization the goals of the development program which will enable La Salle to render greater service to the youth of our nation and, particularly, the youth of the City of Philadelphia. There are a number of reasons why La Salle College is worthy of this interest and support from Industry, Corporations, and individuals. The following are foremost among them:

1. Ninety percent of the student body, now numbering nearly four thousand, are from the city of Philadelphia and its environs. La Salle College is a Philadelphia college, in the city, and of the city. A recent survey of the alumni reveals that almost all of the graduates of the College remain in this metropolitan area.
2. The College, in a practical and effective manner, is seriously concerned about making available to young men of modest financial resources—men whose potential can be of great usefulness because of a college education—an opportunity to secure this education. Tuition fees at La Salle College have been traditionally modest. Student aid averages over $120,000 each year. This amount is many times over the average amount of assistance given annually by a college of similar size and character.
3. The College, in existence close to one hundred years, has been preparing professional men, doctors, dentists, teachers, lawyers, accountants, etc., who have been serving metropolitan Philadelphia.

4. Requiring military instruction of all physically able students through the Reserve Officers Training Program, La Salle is sharing fully in the national effort to prepare youth to assume its rightful responsibilities in our democracy.
5. La Salle College is rendering a large measure of service to industry and business by providing, in the Evening Division program, an opportunity for men gainfully employed to secure a college education and in this way to prepare them to give a better and more efficient service to their employers.
6. By giving her students an education based on sound Christian principles which respect the dignity of the human person and human society, La Salle College is making a real and substantial contribution to the preservation of our cherished American birthright of freedom in a democracy.

LA SALLE COLLEGE IS DETERMINED TO GIVE THE BEST TO THE YOUNG MEN OF PHILADELPHIA SEEKING A COLLEGE EDUCATION UNDER HER AUSPICES. THE RESOURCES OF THE COLLEGE ARE MEAGRE. THE COLLEGE NEEDS THE SUPPORT OF PHILADELPHIA TO ENABLE HER DEVOTED FACULTY TO EDUCATE OUR YOUTH. WE EARNESTLY SEEK YOUR INTEREST AND SUPPORT. ROBERT F. CAIRO-1958

Nothing succeeds like success. And nowhere is this more apparent than in our current Annual Giving Campaign. Already well into the last phase of our drive contributions to date have surpassed last year both in number of contributions and in total amount contributed. A very successful campaign is assured.

However, a quick look beneath the surface quickly dispels any notion of overconfidence we may feel. Last year a total of 644 alumni participated in Annual Giving: 668 alumni have contributed to the current campaign. While the number of contributions exceeds last year, 77 contributions have come from the Class of 1957 which was not included in the alumni solicitation last year.

The Class of 1952 had 110 contributors last year as compared to only 48 contributors to the current campaign. Annual Giving is a growth program depending upon repeat gifts for its success, yet in this instance 62 previous contributors from '52 have not repeated. Yet, we feel certain that by the close of the drive in June, the Class of '52 will be back at the top again.

The Class of 1954 deserves special mention for a fine showing this year. A total of 75 contributions have been received so far with two full months to go before the drive ends. The Class of '54 is well on its way to establishing a new record for highest percentage of contributors. Congratulations to a fine class committee for a splendid job.

We need more class effort. It has been proven that where the class itself makes a real effort the effects are felt immediately. The Class of '52 has proven it as has the Class of '54. A similar effort by all the other classes will bring similar results. Why not glance at the accompanying table showing results to date and judge the response of your own class. Have you made your contribution? Have you encouraged someone else in your class to do likewise? Why not do something today to make Annual Giving a success in your class.

With cooperation of this type we are going to exceed our goal of 1000 contributors to the Fourth Annual Giving Drive. Do something today to make it possible.

SEGREGATION DEBATE

"Should Racial Segregation Be Continued in the South?" was the topic for the debate March 25, when the La Salle College debating team hosted the debaters of the "Conservative Club" of Macon, Ga.

The "Club" unofficially represents Mercer University, in Macon.

Among the La Salle forensic team's successes this year include their eighth place showing in the Brooklyn College Tournament last month, in which 65 teams took part, including Harvard, Penn, Princeton, Holy Cross and Villanova.

COUNSELING CENTER

The La Salle College Counseling Center has received the accreditation of the American Board on Professional Standards in Vocational Counseling, Inc., it was announced this week by Dr. John J. Rooney, Director of the Center.

In receiving the Board's recognition, La Salle's Center becomes the only Catholic college in the nation to be so honored, and joins the University of Pennsylvania as the only two area schools which applied for and received accreditation.

"GERMAN WEEK" AT LA SALLE

La Salle College held its first "German Week" on the College Campus from March 10 to 16, under the direction of John Veen, president of the La Salle German Club.

"German Week," a series of events and activities centered about Germany and German culture, gave a glimpse of the broad cultural values found in another national group. All campus festivities for the week were free and open to the public.

Cultural exhibits on display for the student body included German-American art donated by the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation, plus a number of books, magazines, and newspapers. The German Embassy in Washington also provided literature. These exhibits, plus a valuable collection of German beer mugs and other miscellany, were displayed in the Library basement showcase.

LOAN APPROVED

The Federal Government approved a

$1,075,000 loan to La Salle College for construction of the Student Union building on the Olney Avenue Campus, it was announced in Washington last month by Congressman Hugh Scott (R-Phila.).

The final step toward actual construction is the acceptance of bids, according to Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., vice-president of the College.

Congressman Scott announced that the loan was accomplished under the government's college housing program and that the total cost of the structure is estimated at approximately $1.3 million.

The ultra-modern Student Union will house a new student and faculty dining hall, a theatre, student lounge, in addition to student activity office spaces.

STUDENTS AID ALUMNUS

A stirring tribute to man's humanity to man, the campus-wide drive to aid 1952 alumnus Joseph Sweeney and his family, concluded successfully with the collection of $400 for the disaster-stricken household.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney, the parents of five children whose ages range from five months to four years, saw most of their possessions consumed by a fire at their Germantown home early last month. Their plight was further aggravated by the theft of what few valuables that remained, when the house was looted soon thereafter.

Learning of the family's misfortune, four La Salle undergrads—Joseph Hanley, Joseph McGarr, Richard Gallagher, and John McManus—received the support of the College to solicit financial aid from the student body.

In addition, Miss Yvonne Cleland, secretary to vice-president of the College Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., initiated a collection from the secretarial staff which netted over $20.

YOU AND MARRIAGE

The fourth annual "You and Marriage" series, sponsored by the La Salle College Family Life Committee, concluded successfully last month when the final speaker, Mary Tinley Daly, spoke on the topic, "Magic Moments," a consideration of raising children.

Other speakers in the 1958 series included the Rev. James T. Brennan, opening speaker in a talk entitled "Stop Look, and Listen;" Walter F. Zener, chairman of the Chestnut Hill College sociology department spoke on "Prose or Poetry—which is Marriage?"; Dr. Frederick Patka, La Salle psychology professor, on "A Many Splendored Thing," a psychological view of wedlock, and Mrs. Daly, mother of six children and newspaper-columnist, in the final lecture.

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

Model of a $2 million science center, which will be erected on the La Salle College campus, 20th and Olney Streets, is examined by Brother E. Stanislaus, president, and James A. Nolen, Jr., of Nolen and Swinburne, Philadelphia architectural firm, which designed the center.

"Lucky For Me!", an original musical comedy by Dan Rodden, '41, Director of the Masque and a member of the English faculty of La Salle, and Joan Ford, will be presented by the Masque of La Salle, May 7, 8, 11, 14, 16 and 17 in the College auditorium, curtain time 8:30 p.m.

The fast moving laugh packed show is being considered by Theatre Four, one of the outstanding theatre groups in the country, for an off-Broadway production in the Fall. Tickets for the La Salle production may be obtained through the Alumni Office, or at the door on the evening of the performance. Sunday, May 11, has been selected for the Annual Masque Reunion. Members of this group will be informed by separate mailing as to the time events begin.

Aside from the La Salle production of "Lucky For Me!", the Rodden play will be presented by Xavier University in Cincinnati at the same time, and another Rodden play, "Small Beer In Springtime," will be presented by a theatre troupe in Norristown. Joe Coogan, '49, is co-author of the latter. May looks like a very big month for Dan Rodden.

OPEN HOUSE APRIL 20

The fifth annual Open House at La Salle College, sponsored by the College Executive Board, will be held Sunday, April 20, between 2:00 and 5:00 p.m. Especially invited are Alumni, students and members of their families, as well as area high school seniors.

Of special interest to visitors will be the opportunity to view parts of rehearsals for the Masque's spring musical production, "Lucky For Me!" an original work by Masque director, Dan Rodden.

In addition to exhibits arranged by campus clubs, on which guests will have the opportunity to vote for their favorite display, the Caisson Club of La Salle's ROTC unit will demonstrate the use of military equipment.

Another highlight of the day will be a concert by the La Salle Glee Club, conducted by Father William Sailer, which will officially close the day's festive events.

Brother E. Stanislaus, F.S.C., President, Councilman Charles M. Finley, Senator John F. Kennedy and Brother E. James, F.S.C., Provincial, chat before entering convocation at which Senator Kennedy was honored.

BREAKING THE SHEEPSKIN CURTAIN

Have we been guilty of promoting the vague ideal of the uncommitted mind in an uncommitted alumnus? The American Alumni Council insists that the diploma the graduate grasped so enthusiastically on the far away commencement day has become in many cases a vast sheepskin curtain. Be that as it may, of one thing we are sure — every measure of success achieved by La Salle will reflect directly on all who associate their names with the College. No one can graduate and then complacently hide behind this sheepskin curtain, unless he first claims the ostrich for a relative.

Brother Stanislaus, F.S.C., President, has written several times in the past on the reorganization of the College and on the plans for its physical development. In these matters there has been much progress. We do not assume, however, that you are interested only in the building program or in the basketball team's success. Not doubting that your intellectual curiosity, your spiritual yearning, and your filial loyalty are still alive, the College has launched vigorous programs of cultural, religious and athletic interest — and these are open to you. The Alumni Office hopes to prepare a calendar of such events which will be sent to you regularly at your request.

Various student organizations and departments of instruction succeed each year in bringing outstanding speakers to the Campus. Speakers of national prominence receive heart-warming encouragement from the administration, faculty and student body. You, as alumni, are enthusiastically invited to take advantage of this wealth of culture too. Some of the outstanding speakers this past year were Ammon Hennacy, District Attorney Victor Blanc, Professor Richard Bluck, Senator John F. Kennedy, Professor James V. Mullaney, Professor Russell Kirk, Professor Lang, Reverend Harold Rigney, S.V.D., Mr. Connor Cruise O'Brien and several of our very capable faculty members. Among the subjects discussed were La Salle Education versus Ivy League Education; The Soviet Anti-God Campaign; The United Nations As Seen by a New member — Ireland; Being and Non-Being; Rebuilding of the Educational Structure; Four Years In a Red Hell; Evolution; Normality and Conformity; The Needs of the Church in the South; and Thomism.

Under the faithful direction of Mr. Claude Koch, Associate Professor of our English Department, the Fine Arts Program each year offers outstanding contributions in films and art exhibits. Those members of the alumni interested in subscribing to the Fine Films Program may do so for the whole series. Seats are reserved. These films of international acclaim are shown in the College Lounge or the Auditorium. You are also cordially invited to examine the wonderful art exhibits in the College Library. All privileges associated with the Fine Arts Program are yours as members of the alumni.

lain, has consented to put his experience at our disposal. More details on this wonderful venture will in time be made known to you.

It is interesting to note the surprise of some of our students and even of some of our alumni, when they hear that we really do have more than one great "All-American" athlete. Track, football, swimming, and basketball have had their "All-American" representatives from La Salle College. A few months ago at one of the meetings of the College Athletic Committee it was suggested that we establish a "Hall of Fame" for the outstanding La Salle athletes over the years of her history. This idea has been submitted to your Board of Directors. It has received their enthusiastic approval. Plans for the organization of a selection committee are in progress, and so in the near future the photos of our "greats" may be viewed on the walls of some room or lounge of the new Student Union Building.

The "lost alumnus" is one of the biggest problems in raising the sheepskin curtain. The annual rate of new addresses or address changes as recorded by the Alumni Office, under the able direction of John L. McCloskey, was 18% of our active list of 5,000. But, regrettably, each year we lose contact with alumni who change their address without notifying the Office, or without leaving sufficient forwarding information at their last post office. Help us by informing Mr. McCloskey of your change in address or of the present address of those you meet who do not receive the alumni mail.

This year four of your former teachers celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary as Christian Brothers — Brothers David Cassian, Gervald Henry, Fidentius Joseph and Gildatus Thomas. All F.S.C.'s for twenty-five years. A vocation, like God who fosters and sustains it, is a mystery. The vocation of a Christian Brother puzzles by its uniqueness. To the many questions and to the many people who ask, words and explanations are inadequate without a basic sympathy for men caught in this unique web of God's love. There is, however, a basic understanding between you, the alumni of La Salle, and the Christian Brothers. Also there is a deep relation. You are the Brothers' tower of strength and a great source of their encouragement. You are the reasons for their existence. From them no curtain should separate you.

Brother Daniel Bernian

The Campus Committee of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, under the direction of Brother D. Augustine, F.S.C., in conjunction with the Sociology Department, sponsors each year a series of lectures on marriage and the family. The response to these talks, given by outstanding laymen and religious, has been enthusiastic. You are welcome to attend them.

Several times during the past year the question of a weekend retreat at Malvern for the alumni has arisen during the many meetings of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. It has been suggested instead that closed retreat be held on Campus on June 6, 7, a convenient time since the students will have completed their classes and all the facilities of the College will be available for the use of the alumni. Our attractive new residence halls make it possible to house conveniently more than two hundred members, and the College Cafeteria, under the direction of Mr. William Hall, can provide adequate dining facilities. For organization of the retreat exercises, Father Mark Heath, O.P., Student Chap-

ALUMNI RETREAT

After numerous request by members of the Alumni for religious activities for the Association, plans have been completed for the first annual Alumni Retreat. Under the chairmanship of Jim Gillispie, '55, with the cooperation of Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., Vice-President of the College and Alumni Advisor, arrangements have been made to hold the overnight retreat on the La Salle College Campus. The retreat will begin Friday evening, June 6, and those attending will have the option of remaining overnight in the Residence Halls, or returning home. The formal closing of the retreat will be held Saturday afternoon, June 7. All meals will be taken in the Leonard Hall cafeteria. Father Mark Heath, O.P., College Chaplain, will direct the retreat.

Due to limited facilities, only 150 reservations will be accepted. Members of the Alumni are encouraged to make their reservations as soon as possible by writing or calling the Alumni Office. It is anticipated that the donation will be $10.00.

SPORTS

Donald W. "Dudey" Moore, left, new basketball coach at La Salle, chats with two returning lettermen, Joey Heyer, center, and Ralph Bantivoglio, right. "Dudey," in town to ink the 3 year contract, met with members of the squad who will be working for him next season.

The La Salle cafeteria set, composed of enthusiastic authorities on the world of sports, is strangely silent on a normally much discussed subject this spring. Basketball is not a conversation piece. The average La Salle fan would just as soon forget all about the recently completed hardwood campaign. The hoopsters finished their third mediocre season in a row, turning in their uniforms after a 16-9 course which was a far cry from the trumpeting predictions of last fall.

The records were hardly filed when the announcement was made of coach Jim Pollard's resignation. The former Minneapolis Laker great stepped down after a three year term in which La Salle teams compiled an overall 48-28 log. In the wake of Pollard's exodus came the signing of Donald "Dudey" Moore, recent resignee at Duquesne where he established a reputation as one of the finest coaches in the country.

The 1957-58 season was a painful disappointment for the Blue and Gold. Although obviously a talent heavy team, the Explorers found a relatively easy schedule spiked with obstacles. Starting with the opening game upset by Millersville, and emphasized by upset losses to Penn, Duquesne and Georgetown, the outlook faded from one of supreme confidence to uneasiness as Explorer supporters waited for their machine to pick up speed. It never got into high gear and every game developed into a question mark.

The one consolation loomed in the important game with St. Joseph's and the reported NIT bid which hinged on the outcome. After a valiant rally by LSC sent the contest into overtime, atrophy beset the Pollardmen and the Hawks made off with a 82-77 triumph and a journey to Gotham.

The season statistics aren't on the best seller list, but to give deserved credit, senior Bill Katheder was the high scorer with 326 points and a 13 point game average. Captain Charley Eltringham was the only other man in double figures with a 10.1 average. Al Ferner, a steady but unheralded performer throughout, averaged 9.4, while soph Joe Heyer, appearing in only 19 of the 25 games, averaged 8.8 and gave promise of better things next season with his sparkling late season play. Tom Garberina, showing only flashes of expected brilliant form, hit for 8.2 per game.

Ferner led the squad in shooting percentage with a .524 mark. Garberina was the best at the charity stripe with .783. The team average from the floor was a good .436, while the foul percentage was .647.

Soph Bob Alden was the top rebounder with 214, and one of the steadier defensive players for the entire season. Bob's numerous blocked shots are the sort of valuable contribution that doesn't appear on paper.

The team had the dubious distinction of being the most overworked quintet in the nation. The Explorers were involved in six overtime games, four of which were resolved in their favor. The 111-105 win over Villanova in three extra sessions was the most spectacular game of the season.

Dudey Moore will inherit a team deprived of five seniors but still retaining four experienced sophomores. Moore experienced his first losing season in twenty-three years of coaching this season. At Duquesne, Moore's teams were often among the best in the land and under him such stars as Dick Ricketts and Si Green matured into greatness. He was twice named "Coach of the Year."

KEYSTONE SACK PROBLEM

Second base is the big problem for Jim Pollard this month as the Explorer nine opened the 1958 baseball campaign April 3 with Penn in its first season under the ex-pro court star's tutelage.

Pollard replaces Frank Hoerst '39 ex-Phillies hurler, who left the coaching reins for the business world.

Eleven returning lettermen add lustre to La Salle hopes of capturing the MAC playoff berth earned last year by Lafayette. Led by hard-hitting backstop Ed Czerniakowski, who hit .391 and led in the RBI department last year, Pollard's crew hopes to better the 10-6 mark of 1957 with improved fielding and pitching depth.

One problem remains, however, for, although the nucleus of last year's infield is back, plus the addition of promising new shortstop, Bob Egizeo, the keystone sack is without a reliable starter. Pollard cannot rely on last year's second basemen, Barney Spearman and Tom Madden, since the former has been sidelined by late lab hours in his pre-med course, and Madden will be needed on the mound. Third sacker Vince Valecchi might be moved to second if Pollard can fill the hot corner slot. Jack "Beans" Reardon is mentioned for the job. First base is again manned by senior Jerry Sheehan.

New Talent

Pollard is depending on two seniors and a sparkling sophomore to supply the outfield power. Veterans Don Zelinski, left field, and Tom Shemeley, right, will combine with soph sensation Connie Newman, who will double between the centerfield post and pitching chores. Mike Schlacter is a reserve gardener with 1957 experience.

Fresh talent and two returning hurlers are the basis for high hopes for the mound corps success. Junior Bill Mullen, whose five wins in seven decisions was tops for last year, is counted upon as mainstay of the 1958 staff. Tom Madden, 1-1 for four starts and one relief assignment last year, looks improved. Sophs Connie Newman, Joe Laurinaitis, and Ed O'Mara, promise to strengthen Explorer hill assets.

The Explorer's 1958 diamond schedule is as follows:

TRACK

Since Frank Wetzler took over as track coach in 1949, the Blue and Gold thinelads have taken five MAC crowns been runnerup three times, and have finished in the top ten in the IC4A championship three times. These titles along with three MAC mile relay championships, two American Championships, (one in the Penn Relays, the other in the Quantico Relays), the MAAAU Indoor title, and six individual titles in the IC4A make for an impressive record.

Wetzler, who has never been called an optimist, is worried about this season's squad. After a check of his roster his concern is understood. "We're not deep enough this season," are the former Villanova football and track great's only words. His point is well taken.

Olympian Ira Davis, triple winner in last year's MAC championship, and holder of four La Salle College track and field records, heads a list of nine veterans who will be out to improve the Explorer's runnerup position in last season's MAC event. After Davis, only four other members of this veteran core scored points in last year's championship.

Helping Davis out in the scoring will be seniors Jerry Butler (440), Al Turner (Hurdles), Ed McCabe, La Salle record holder for the mile, and discus tosser Jack Steele. Heading the junior list is little Earle Jefferson, LSC record holder for the two mile event, high jumper Fred Cassidy, and sprinters Al Watson and Dick Manco.

Sophomores to watch this season are middle distance men Jim Summer, Tom Lynaugh, and iron man Pete Walheim, plus basketballer Andy Taylor, former New Jersey State high jump champ.

On paper it doesn't look like La Salle has much of a chance, but Wetzler has been known to work miracles with the talent that is available, and this could be another outstanding season for the Cinderfellas.

CREW

A third consecutive Dad Vail Championship was the ambition of the Explorer crew as coach Tom Curran's sweepsters began practice on the Schuylkill in early March. The strongbacks have only two men back from the boat that captured the Dad Vail last May, but a promising sophomore crop greatly strengthens the Blue and Gold chances for another small college rowing title.

Co-Captains Bob Morro and Romeo Boyd are the returnees from last year, when LSC lost only one race. Two other seniors, Jim Garvin and John Todd, who did not row last season but had previous experience, are leading candidates for varsity berths.

The ice was still melting and snow lined the banks of the river when "Bear" Curran's blades began the grueling conditioning grind which makes for a winning crew come May.

10th Year

Last year's freshman crew, the best in Explorer rowing history, has made a strong contribution to the '58 varsity. Tom Henry, Bob Suter, Tony McCloskey and Harry Todd all are in the battle for positions in the big eight.

This is La Salle's tenth season in the rowing game. The Explorers have won the Dad Vail five times, three of these championships coming since Curran took over as varsity coach.

Although it was originally an athletic endeavor of little note, the crew has been gaining stature steadily. With three boats (varsity, JV and freshman) competing, the crew has the largest number of participants in the La Salle athletic program.

Spectator wise, rowing is an increasingly popular spectacle. The Dad Vail has become an annual social affair, and gayly attired college men and their lady friends flock to the banks of the Schuylkill to watch as the eight oared crews match strokes.

"RANDOM NOTES"

Thomas M. Harper III

I am happy to report that our homecoming game against Moorehead State was a social and financial success. Chairman Joe Spellman, George Mason and Gerry Corky are to be congratulated. The evening got off to a good start when we beat a surprisingly good Moorehead State team. The alumni then adjourned to Kugler's for dancing and libation and an all around good evening.

We hope that those of you who attended will join us with your friends and classmates at our alumni spring dance to be held sometime in May to welcome the 1958 graduating class to the Alumni Association.

Since the last issue of this magazine, a lot of you have gotten together with your various class or alumni groups. On February 1st, the Washington group had a meeting at the Shoreham Hotel attended by fifteen of our graduates in the Washington area. On March 5th, the New York group met and attended the Seton Hall game which, again, was a victory. Next season, Dudley Moore consenting, maybe we should have one alumni group attend every game since we seem to be an omen of good luck. On March 16th, the ever-active Camden group had a cocktail party and on March 23rd, the class of 1940 held a reunion in the College Lounge under the auspices of Frank Loughney.

Coming up will be the reunion of the class of '38 on May 4th under the chairmanship of Dr. John A. Guischard, the Levittown group's spring dance, and a dinner meeting planned by the New York City group April 8th. The Class of '48 will hold its ten-year reunion in the college lounge on April 26th, music for dancing and liquid refreshment to be provided by the management according to the chairman, Jim Barry.

These reunions give you an opportunity to renew friendships, count receding hairlines, swap baby pictures, and enjoy a congenial evening in good company. Line your baby sitters up in advance, call your friends, and plan to attend.

In this issue of the magazine, you will find a tentative set of by-laws for our Alumni organization. I should like to express our gratitude to the chairman of the committee, Joseph Malone, '56, evening division, who prepared the basic instrument and shepherded it through the many committee and board meetings involved in its preliminary adoption by your Board of Directors.

I am sure that you have all seen the announcement in the press concerning the new student union building at an estimated cost of $1,800,000.00. If any of us need reminding of the need for the success of our Annual Giving campaign, this should serve as a good example of the college's need for funds. Our college is fully cognizant of the growing crisis in education which necessitates an expansion of physical plant and facilities to meet the increasing demand for higher education. This demand presents a real challenge to non-state-supported institutions and in its broader ramifications, to our entire Catholic educational system. As graduates of La Salle College, it is imperative that we acknowledge our responsibility by participating in the Annual Giving campaign to the extent possible. Our goal this year is 1,000 contributors. The first phase of the drive is completed and we are still short of attaining that modest goal. If you have not made your contribution, please do so as soon as possible.

On behalf of the Alumni Association, I will take this opportunity to extend our best wishes to our former basketball coach, Jim Pollard. Perhaps one of the greatest basketball players in this era, we are proud to have had Jim guide our basketball destinies. A good guy, excellent coach, gentleman always, we wish him luck.

Local sports scribes have accused La Salle College of being basketball "win conscious." There is no doubt that this is true although the accusation struck me as being a compliment and certainly in the American tradition.

On that note and on behalf of the Alumni, I should like to extend our cordial welcome to Dudley Moore and wish him all success.

Co-captains Romeo Boyd, left, and Bob Morro apply sawdust to one of the oars members of this season's crew will pull. Coach "Bear" Curran's sweepers opened the season April 5, at Fordham.

FRIENDS OF LA SALLE

La Salle College earnestly solicits the interest and support of friends to bring to a complete realization the goals of the development program which will enable La Salle to render greater service to the youth of our nation and, particularly, the youth of the City of Philadelphia. There are a number of reasons why La Salle College is worthy of this interest and support from Industry, Corporations, and individuals. The following are foremost among them:

1. Ninety percent of the student body, now numbering nearly four thousand, are from the city of Philadelphia and its environs. La Salle College is a Philadelphia college, in the city, and of the city. A recent survey of the alumni reveals that almost all of the graduates of the College remain in this metropolitan area.
2. The College, in a practical and effective manner, is seriously concerned about making available to young men of modest financial resources—men whose potential can be of great usefulness because of a college education—an opportunity to secure this education. Tuition fees at La Salle College have been traditionally modest. Student aid averages over $120,000 each year. This amount is many times over the average amount of assistance given annually by a college of similar size and character.
3. The College, in existence close to one hundred years, has been preparing professional men, doctors, dentists, teachers, lawyers, accountants, etc., who have been serving metropolitan Philadelphia.
4. Requiring military instruction of all physically able students through the Reserve Officers Training Program, La Salle is sharing fully in the national effort to prepare youth to assume its rightful responsibilities in our democracy.
5. La Salle College is rendering a large measure of service to industry and business by providing, in the Evening Division program, an opportunity for men gainfully employed to secure a college education and in this way to prepare them to give a better and more efficient service to their employers.
6. By giving her students an education based on sound Christian principles which respect the dignity of the human person and human society, La Salle College is making a real and substantial contribution to the preservation of our cherished American birthright of freedom in a democracy.

LA SALLE COLLEGE IS DETERMINED TO GIVE THE BEST TO THE YOUNG MEN OF PHILADELPHIA SEEKING A COLLEGE EDUCATION UNDER HER AUSPICES. THE RESOURCES OF THE COLLEGE ARE MEAGRE. THE COLLEGE NEEDS THE SUPPORT OF PHILADELPHIA TO ENABLE HER DEVOTED FACULTY TO EDUCATE OUR YOUTH. WE EARNESTLY SEEK YOUR INTEREST AND SUPPORT. CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM MAY BE SENT TO:

95th COMMENCEMENT

Members of the class of 1958 attending Baccalaureate Mass.

It is not merely an economic or social schism which today divides the world, said the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. McDonald at the 95th annual La Salle College commencement, but a split between "out-and-out materialism" and the God-fearing nations.

Msgr. McDonald, rector of Catholic University, delivered the principal address to the more than 600 graduates, their families, and the faculty, at Convention Hall June 10. He also received the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy.

The Monsignor cautioned against the "secularization of the professions," and stressed that the sciences and religion are not incompatible. A priest of the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Msgr. McDonald was appointed Domestic Prelate with the title of Rt. Rev. Monsignor in 1948, and was named professor of philosophy at Catholic University the following year.

Other honorary degrees were presented to Professor William F. Albright, Johns Hopkins University biblical scholar, also Doctor of Pedagogy; and John B. Kelly, prominent area contractor and civic leader, and John F. Connelly, president of Crown Cork and Seal Corporation, both of whom received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Two unique aspects of the ceremonies were the simultaneous graduation of three brothers, John, Thomas, and Eugene Kelly, and the presentation for honorary degree of Professor Albright by his son, Brother E. Alban, F.S.C., of the La Salle College mathematics department.

Bernard J. McCormick delivered the valedictory, which Msgr. McDonald honored by referring to it on three occasions in his address.

The commencement program opened in the morning with the Baccalaureate Mass at the Church of the Holy Child, Broad St. and Duncannon Ave. The Rev. James A. Driscoll, O.P., was the celebrant. The Rev. Mark Heath, O.P., College chaplain, was the deacon, and the Rev. John J. Lacey, O.P., was sub-deacon. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. William E. Campbell, of St. Charles Seminary.

Fifty-one of the men graduated with honors. Maxima Cum Laude honors went to Anthony A. Ferrara, Ernest L. Whalon, Joseph J. Panchella, Richard V. Ritchie, Gerald M. Wilk, Bro. Dominic

Lawrence Colhocker, F.S.C., Brother Daniel Bonaventure DeBarbieri, F.S.C., Frank A. Dunn, Pasquale J. LaRuffa, Edward C. Malarkey, Donald M. Peterson, Stephen G. Vasso, and James John Walsh.

Magna Cum Laude distinction was received by David M. Besselman, Robert F. Galante, John F. Gallagher, Jr., Gerald T. Hoffman, Louis J. Kijewski, Norbert C. Moser, Joseph A. Murphy, Alfred T. Pepino, Angelo T. Randazzo, Leo D. Rudnytzky, Thomas C. Smith, Joseph M. Gindhart, William J. Nelson, John C. Oberholzer, Richard P. Peregoy, Thomas F. Dudley, and William F. Johnson.

Graduating Cum Laude were Edward J. Bader, Paul Freemer, Paul J. Lindinger, Thomas F. McCrea, John P. Pryor, George C. Shammo, Samuel Smith, Gerald R. Bowers, Joseph R. Desiata, John F. Magosin, Jr., Donald R. Marrandino, Frederick W. Reed, Frank J. Schwartz, John J. Toner, Raymond T. Coughlan, Peter L. Feledick, Edward W. Hunt, Bro. David Anthony Manion, F.S.C., Bro. Gerardian Richard Molyneaux, F.S.C., Michael M. Schlacter, Jr., Dominic J. Travagline, and Thomas C. Addison.

CAMPUS EVENTS

Edward J. Wall, '51, (center) beams approval as his wife accepts the "Ph.T. Degree" from Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., vice-president. Mrs. Wall was honored at the annual "Ph.T." ceremony held on the Campus.

PH.T. CEREMONY

Mrs. Edward J. Wall, of 1953 Welsh Rd., Philadelphia, received the "Ph.T.—Putting Him Through—Degree". With Distinction, at the annual pre-commencement conferral by La Salle College June 1, in the college auditorium.

Dr. James P. Quindlan, associate in obstetrics and gynecology at the Temple University Medical Center, was the principal speaker.

The "degrees," a success since their inception in 1956, are presented annually to wives of seniors in both the day and evening schools. Some 160 were honored this year, 70 of whom were wives of day school students. This year, the wife of an alumnus was chosen for the special "With Distinction" award. Mrs. Wall's husband was graduated in 1951.

Mrs. Wall, mother of eight children, a Registered Nurse and a civic minded citizen, received the award for "fulfilling the role of unselfish Christian wife and mother." In addition to caring for her own family while her husband earned his bachelor of arts degree from La Salle and master of education degree from Temple, Mrs. Wall repeatedly used her professional skill as a nurse to care for the needy among her neighbors.

Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., vice-president, was presiding officer of the exercises, and Brother Gregorian Paul, F.S.C., evening division dean, presented the candidates for "degree." The Reverend Mark Heath, O.P., college chaplain, delivered the Invocation and Benediction.

As we are told that this column has space limits we will not be able to mention all those present. You will be able to pick out the rest of the class by referring to the photo. Doubtless you will recognize, among others, Whitman's Bill Maguire and our football stalwart, Joe Ritter. We would like to thank Brother Stanislaus and other members of the administration and faculty who participated in our reunion. Thanks are also due to Bill Hall, La Salle's Maitre d'Hotel, who provided the refreshments and to the A.P.O. Fraternity who decorated the Library Lounge for the occasion. FOURTH ANNUAL GIVING PROGRAM

A COMPLETE REPORT

The Fourth Annual Giving Drive was brought to a close on June 30th. Despite the fact that our goal of 1,000 contributors was not attained this year, 850 alumni contributed $15,200. This represents an increase of 32% in number of contributors and almost 50% in total amount realized. The average gift also increased from $15.66 to $17.88.

Our appreciation and gratitude to the members of the committee, to the class agents and to all who actively worked for Annual Giving must be acknowledged. Our success was due in no small measure to their efforts and we feel certain that the splendid results achieved this year will provide incentive for future years when the full potential benefits of this program will be realized.

An innovation this year was the creation of the "Century Club" consisting of those alumni who contributed $100 or more to the campaign. There were 24 members inscribed on the rolls this year, and we feel certain that in future years many more names will be added.

Annual Giving is a growth program and one which has tremendous possibilities for the future of the College. Many Alumni feel a compelling obligation to further the progress of La Salle and through programs such as Annual Giving, have a splendid opportunity to give concrete expression to such belief.

While to the individual alumnus, making his small annual contribution to the college may not seem too important, many such contributions add up to a substantial total which is the very basis of all successful programs of Annual Giving. Your gift is important and we are extremely grateful for it.

To the 850 Alumni who supported Annual Giving, we offer our sincere thanks; to those alumni who for reasons of their own did not find it convenient to contribute, we earnestly solicit your help in the future.

Class of 1959 to acquaint the Education majors in the Senior class with men in their chosen field. The Alumni Office hopes to develop this idea to include other professions, if this is feasible.

and greeted with favorable reviews.

An British edition of the work will be published this Fall by Victor Gollancz, Ltd.

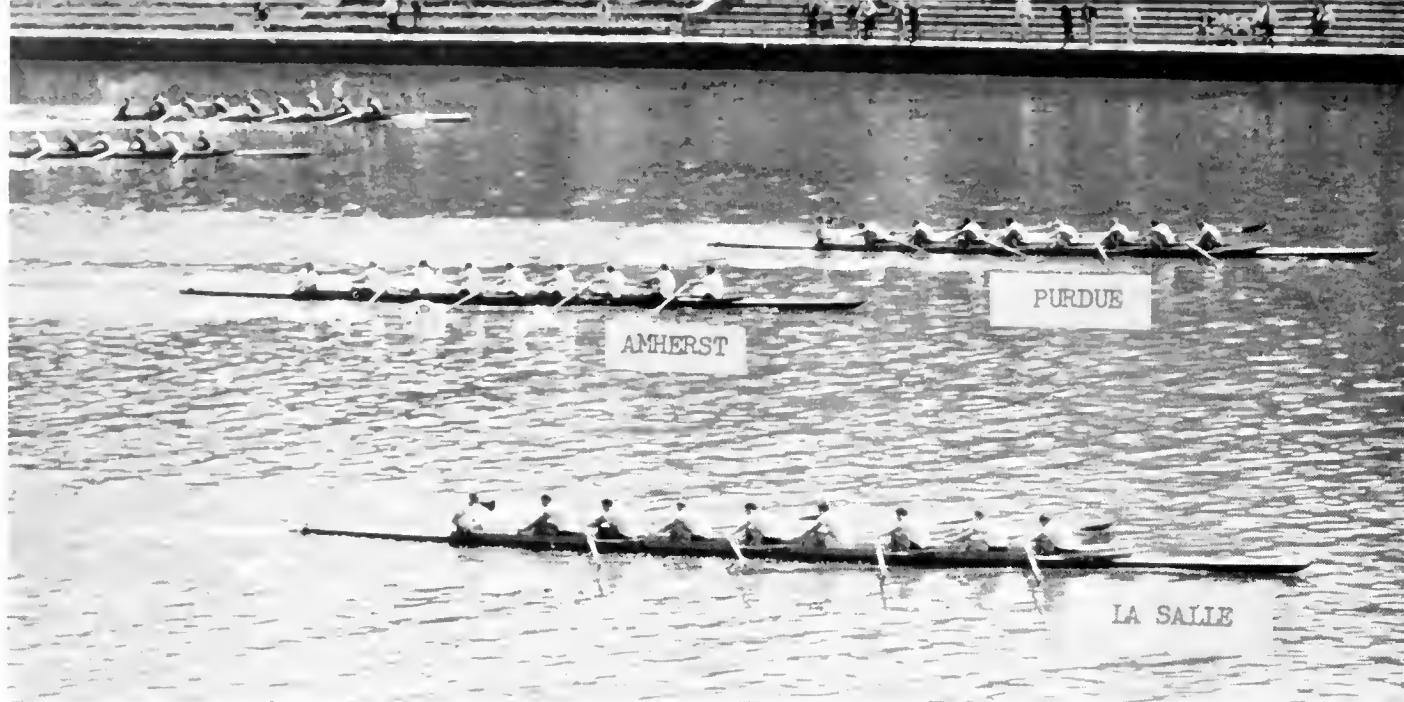

The novel, describing the effect of an invasion of worldliness upon a monastery overlooking a remote gorge of the Niagara, was called "somber in mood but marked by rare intensity and a most original style," by the Book of the Month Review. "The narrative," the Review said, "moves to its climax like a slow, sad dance. There are tenderly drawn sketches of children, and much of the writing is memorable." For work on this novel Koch was awarded a "Sewanee Review" fellowship in fiction.

Koch did graduate work at Niagara University and the University of Pennsylvania before receiving his masters degree in creative writing under Andrew Lytle at the University of Florida, while on a leave of absence from the La Salle faculty in 1955.

SECOND NOVEL

Light in Silence, second novel by Claude Koch '40, of the La Salle College English department, has been released

SPORTS

There is little doubt that Ira Davis is the most outstanding track athlete ever to wear the Blue and Gold of La Salle College. The former Overbrook High School athlete holds five LSC records, is the only athlete ever to take four first places in the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference track championships, and he will represent the United States later this month in a track meet with the Soviet Union in Moscow. Aside from these honors, Davis was the winner of the 100 yard dash at both the Penn Relays and the IC4A Championships. In the IC4A's, Davis also took a second in the 220 and a third in the broad jump.

The highest honors that La Salle College can bestow on any athlete are "The President's Award", and "The Joseph Schmitz Trophy". In the long history of La Salle athletes, only two men had ever received both these awards in one year. Ira Davis joined that select group this Spring. In a special presentation ceremony prior to the Athletic Banquet, and prior to Davis' departure for the West Coast, the former Olympian received both these awards to join Tom Gola, three time basketball All American, and Olympic swim king Joe Verdeur in the select circle.

Another former La Salle College great will join Davis for the trip to Russia. Al Cantello, LSC record holder in the javeline, and former track All American, was also named to the U. S. team after his 244' toss in the recent AAU championships at Bakersfield, California.

The start of a perfect day. La Salle's crew wins its trial heat prior to taking the Dad Vail Championship for the third consecutive year.

BASEBALL

There was little to cheer about for Explorer baseball fans as the season got underway. The charges of Jim Pollard played the poorest ball in the area for the first three weeks of the season, and it looked like it was going to be the worst year in La Salle baseball history. Ed Czerniakowski, Ed O'Mara and Bob Egizio had other ideas, and these three athletes lifted the hapless Explorers by the shoetops and had the team playing the best ball in the area at the end of the season. The surge was a little too late to improve the overall record of 7-8, but the Explorers were able to avenge several early season losses. Of the seven victories, four came against Big Five foes. St. Joseph's was defeated twice, and the Pollardmen split with Temple and Villanova. Penn was the winner in the only game between the two schools.

Czerniakowski was the biggest noise on the La Salle College team. His .426 batting average and 10 homeruns had big league scouts in the stands for every game. The native of Plains, Pa., a Dean's List Honor student for four years, was also named to the District 2 All Star team, and was selected as a member of the All America baseball team.

A pre-dental major, Czerniakowski decided to swap the drill for a bat, and four days after graduation signed with the St. Louis Cardinals at a bonus reported to be close to $25,000. A baseball coach for next season has not been named yet, but whoever it may be, he'll have enough experienced players back for a solid club.

ANOTHER DAD VAIL

In what has to be the closest finish in the history of the Dad Vail Championship, the LSC sweepswingers managed to take a third consecutive title. Co-captained by Bobby Morro and Romeo Boyd, both members of the two previous championship crews, the Explorers came from behind to nip Fordham by a scant six inches. It is the second time that La Salle has captured the Dad Vail three times in a row. Prior to the '56, '57, '58 sweep, the championship cup was at home on the La Salle Campus in '51, '52, and '53.

Things look bright for a fourth consecutive title next season. Only three members of the varsity crew were graduated, and for replacements coach Tom "Bear" Curran has a strong group to chose from on the JV crew and the outstanding freshman boat. Maybe that trophy will never leave the Campus.

TENNIS AND GOLF

Least fortunate of any La Salle team this past year were the golfers. The charges of Bob Courtney were able to win but one match this past season, but this ended a two year losing streak.

Art Condon's racquet squad finished the season with a not too bad 4-5 log. The wins came over St. Joseph's twice, Temple and Drexel.

FRIENDS OF LA SALLE

La Salle College earnestly solicits the interest and support of friends to bring to a complete realization the goals of the development program which will enable La Salle to render greater service to the youth of our nation and, particularly, the youth of the City of Philadelphia. There are a number of reasons why La Salle College is worthy of this interest and support from Industry, Corporations, and individuals. The following are foremost among them:

1. Ninety percent of the student body, now numbering nearly four thousand, are from the city of Philadelphia and its environs. La Salle College is a Philadelphia college, in the city, and of the city. A recent survey of the alumni reveals that almost all of the graduates of the College remain in this metropolitan area.
2. The College, in a practical and effective manner, is seriously concerned about making available to young men of modest financial resources—men whose potential can be of great usefulness because of a college education—an opportunity to secure this education. Tuition fees at La Salle College have been traditionally modest. Student aid averages over $120,000 each year. This amount is many times over the average amount of assistance given annually by a college of similar size and character.
3. The College, in existence close to one hundred years, has been preparing professional men, doctors, dentists, teachers, lawyers, accountants, etc., who have been serving metropolitan Philadelphia.
4. Requiring military instruction of all physically able students through the Reserve Officers Training Program, La Salle is sharing fully in the national effort to prepare youth to assume its rightful responsibilities in our democracy.
5. La Salle College is rendering a large measure of service to industry and business by providing, in the Evening Division program, an opportunity for men gainfully employed to secure a college education and in this way to prepare them to give a better and more efficient service to their employers.
6. By giving her students an education based on sound Christian principles which respect the dignity of the human person and human society, La Salle College is making a real and substantial contribution to the preservation of our cherished American birthright of freedom in a democracy.
